Accessing Google Classroom via Mobile App

Google Classroom

The Google Classroom app is free to download for both Apple and Android devices.

It is essential that students log into this app using their C2K email address and password.

Your child's C2K email address is simply their school username followed by '@c2ken.net'

e.g. aname123@c2ken.net

Their password is the same as the one they use to log into the computers here in school.

Why can't students use their personal email?

Firstly – their email address is visible to anyone enrolled in the room, including staff. It is not advised that students share personal contact details in this way.

Secondly – pupils may not be able to download or view documents attached to learning objectives as they are not using C2K credentials.

If any student has already joined a Google Classroom with their personal email, they should leave the room and rejoin using the correct login details.
